Democracy's Opportunity.

ST. LOUIS, MO., July 6. nocratic Convention now in ses sion in St. Louis has an inviting oppor tunity to re-establish its principles, reunite its forces, regain the confidence of presidency. These desirable results can be accomplished by promulgating an oldtime Democratic platform, denouncing Rooseveltism in plain Jeffersonian simtion of government in the interest of the people. There is just one thing more to do, and that is to nominate Grover Cleve Democratic Platform.

Is it a barren honor to be nominated in July by the Democratic party, as the Baltimore American says? Certainly it detracts from the value of the honor to be defeated in November, if such defeat is assured. But even thus it is worth while to stand for the rights, the political ideals and the earnest wishes of the majority of one's fellow-countrymen. Of course, the candidate who gets elected has the best chance of making the ideals, from which he stands, realities. But when we consider the Republican party in its organized effort to tax the many for the benefit of the few, to say nothing of the probable effect on our future of four years of Mr. Roosevelt's ungoverned and ungovernable control, with such indications of his willingness to override Congress as that which his celebrated cension order has just afforded, the nomination by the Democratic convention is far from being an empty honor.

If the platform that has been published n the New York World as the one to be adopted is in fact accepted by the Demo-cratic convention at St. Louis, the coun try will have as sane and sound a theory of government as can be well devised by a political party. The Democrats in their platform promise to protect the American citizen first and foremost, be he employer or employe, capitalist or laborer. To this end all special benefits to the few at the expense of the many will be discontinued. Notably, the platform calls for the stoppage of government deposits in private banks. It also urges return to the original Democratic doctrine of reciprocity as enunciated by Washington, Jefferson and Adams, and the careful revision of the tariff so as to give the American citizen the benefit of prices as low as those at which our foreign competitors are enabled to purchase by reason of the un-necessarily high protection granted to nome industries. In regard to the Philippines, the party calls for the granting of autonomy to those people as soon as they are able to receive it, saying well that we cannot do better than follow the bright example that we have in our treatment of

There would be no diminution of American prestige at home or abroad under Democratic administration. The army and navy will be fully cared for, and so far from adopting a weak position, the Democratic party promises to take the strongest of all stands in absolutely refusing to allow or commend any such overbearing or buildozing tactics as those pursued by the Republicans under Mr. Roosevelt.

The platform is wordy, but it is not weak. It is long, but it is in no way lacking in Democratic doctrine, and unless we misread the times, the people will respond to this call.

Mr. Cleveland's Vindication.

If the first day of the Democratic Convention did nothing else, it will be famous for the vindication it gave Mr. Cleveland as a patriot, a statesman and a tried and trusted Democrat, In this day of repicing, when from the four corners of our country the Democrats are once more gathered in harmonious and powerful organization, there is no need to rehearse the bitternes of other days; but none the less it must be an everlasting satisfaction to Mr. Cleveland to find at length that he is no longer vilifled as a traitor, hooted as a disorganizer, and hated for his uncompromising belief in his own inerpretation of Democracy.

We do not believe that Mr. Cleveland vishes the nomination of the Democratic party, but his very integrity, his very personal conscience of rectitude and faith ulness must have made him desire rnestly that his position should not be speech, it was like throwing a chunk of malignantly misrepresented by some and utterly misunderstood by many. The stars in their courses have justified Mr. had been inadvertently fired, and it was Cleveland, and though he may never have fanned into burning by a gust of popular again the chance of public service, he has enthusiasm, and it swept the building at least received the well merited glory of public commendation, and the fact that from end to end. The fire raged for the convention at St. Louis could and nearly ten minutes, and the speaker, who did so spontaneously and overwhelmingly had unintentionally started it, could no applaud Mr. Cleveland's name is the presmore have checked the flames than he age that the Democratic party, united in its membership, pure in its enthusiasm and trusted by the people, will once more word of command. It had to burn itself be given the great power and responsibility of governmental administration.

In addition to the increase in the force, it has been stated that the police are armed with weapons that were given them in 1866. If this is so, it is certainly obvious that improved and better pistols should be procured, and that the opportunity for target practice should not only be allowed, but be made. It is the poorest sort of economy to be lacking in equipment,

Grend of Chought In Dixie Land

New Orleans Times-Democrat, July 4th, Patriotism, barren of works, is like faith that sits with folded hands. Problems press, in their way fully as important as the ones our forefathers met so heroically. The blazing cross that summons us to the discharge of the great duties of citiestaship flares eternally along our hills. The task of insuring honest government, of uphoiding high lacals, of utilizing the oportunities we inherited lays a heavy responsibility on us. And on this, the anniversary of our nation's declaration of independence, we should dedicate ourselves anew, bravely, hopefully and wholly to the stern auties that patriotism unmistakabily enjoins.

Columbia State: The strongest force in the St. Louis convention for Parker is admitted to be John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, a Southern man. Indeed, it is not improbable that this Southern statesman will prove hinself the strong-est personality in that great throng of strong Democrats. If a Southern man can wield such an influence in the councils of a great party, why should not a Southern man be named for President? The time is coming, and Mr. Williams is a coming man.

Savannah News: A consensus of Southern newspaper opinion respecting Judge of Josephus Daniels is that it shows that it is possible for one to be high-minded, though a Republican.

Atlanta Constitution: John Sharp Williams would rather be Speaker of the next national House of Representatives than Vice-President of the United States.

Thibet has a regular postal service of a kind. The stamp on letters is merely a native character impressed in red sealing wax. When one wants to post a letter in Thibet he takes it to the nearest postoffice and pays the amount due for postage. Then the letter has the above mentioned seal placed upon it, and the postal authorities take charge of it.

For many years the oil deposits of Trinidad have attracted attention, but until recently explorations have been confined to the surface. Now three or four borings of considerable depth have been made and an attempt is being made to place the project on a commercial basis. Oil of first-rate quality has been found, and it is said to contain a much larger portion of naphtha than the oils found exposed on the surface. A Canadian syndicate is now working this property.

Mr. Glasgow is a native of Rockbridge county, and was educated at Washington college, now Washington end Lee University, from which he graduated with high honors. He came to Richmond soon after completing his aducation, and entered the employment of his uncle, General Joseph R. Anderson, at the Tredegar Works. He has been associated with that extensive enterprise ever since. During the war he had charge of the blast furnace in the Valley of Virginia, supplying the Tredegar Works with pig Iron used in the manufacture of supplies for the Confederate government. His headquarters were in Bototourt county. Mr. Glasgow returned to Richmond soon after the war, and has since been connected with the Tredegar as superintendent of the machine department.

Mr. Glasgow has always taken an active interest in municipal and public affairs. He was appointed a member of the Gity Council by Governor Gilbert C. Walker during his administration, and was subsequently elected a member of the Board of Aldermen, and served for a number of years as chairman of the Finance Committee. He was long a director of the penitentiary and chairman of the board. The present method of depositing all moneys received in the State treasury and paying all claims by warrants on the treasury, signed by the president of the board, was adopted at his instance. Formerly the superintendent deposited all moneys to his credit and paid all claims by his check. Mr. Glasgow also drew the conditional pardon act, which has been in satisfactory operation for several years. He is a director of the Hollywood Cemetery Company, being the oldest member of the board.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with reant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in hurrowing are called dandraff. To cure dandruff permanently, then and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed.
